1. In a saucepan on high heat, bring the water and glucose to the boil and boil the beet leaves for 2 minutes. Turn down the heat to a minimum and simmer for another 8 minutes. Drain.

2. Set the oven on dry heat at 50°C.

3. Lay the leaves out on silicon sheets and dehydrate in the oven for 2 to 4 hours, or until they crystallise.

4. Combine the goose liver with port, cognac, sugar and salt.

5. Line a terrine mould with baking paper.

6. Transfer your foie gras in the terrine, line the top of the terrine with more baking paper to cover all the liver and vacuum seal, mould and all.

7. Set the oven on full steam at 63°C and steam the terrine for 18 minutes.

8. Chill, open the vacuum seal, tip over on a chopping board, remove the baking sheet and cut in 8 equal portions.

9. Plate, drizzle some hazelnut oil, dust with hazelnuts and top with a crystallised beet leaf.
